MARIETTA'S CENTENNIAL.

THE CELEBRATION OF OHIO'S FIRST SETTLEMENT BEGAN.

The Town Gaily Decorated—F. C. Sessions, President of the Ohio Archaeological Society, and Judge Cox, of Cincinnati, Do-liver the Opening Addresses.

MARIETTA, O., April 7.—The centennial celebration opened here Thursday night most auspiciously.

The town was richly decorated and was filled with distinguished guests. The states of Connecticut, Massachusetts, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin had official commissioners and representative present.
There was a fine display of rare and historic relics and American antiquities.

In Michigan there was a heavy fall of rain and hail Wednesday night. The storm was very severe at Muskegon being accompanied
with thunder and lightning.

At Sioux City.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, April 7.—The residence of Mark Modlin was razed by a cyclone which passed over this city yesterday during the prevalence of a violent electric storm.
Mrs. Modlin was severely injured. Mrs.
Rieboldt's house and barn nearby were also demolished. A tornado also visited Sibley, doing immense damage.

The Missouri river just above this place is higher than during the flood of 1881. Miles of lowlands below Elk Point are flooded caused by the forcing of an immense ice gorge at that place. The Milwaukee railroad tracks have been washed away at some points.

MUSKINGUM ACADEMY.

The Muskingum academy was the first high school in Ohio. It was established in 1800, under the charge of David Putnam, grandson of Gen. Israel Putnam, the wolf-killer.]

If Gen. Rufus Putnam, Gen. Benjamin Tupper and Rev. Manassah Cutler could walk in to-day on the colony which they founded 100 years ago, they would be forcibly impressed with the conviction that they built better than they knew.

The fronts of the handsome business blocks and fine residences are gay with tri-colored bunting; flags wave, crowds of people throng the streets, and where 100 years ago the brave Putnam and his fearless band of forty-eight companions heard only the cry of wild creatures, the sigh of the wind through the mighty forests, or the murmur of the waves of the Muskingum and Ohio as they swept around the boats of the strange visitors and hurried on to carry the prophetic tidings to the Mississippi, to-day the air is ringing with exultant music from a hundred bands, and echoing with voices of such numbers as not even the "great towns" of the east could congregate in those olden times.

The initial exercises were held in the town hall, and consisted of a short speech by F. C.
Sessions, president of the Ohio Archaeological society, and an address on "The Building at the State," by Judge Joseph Cox, of Cincinnati.
The judge sketched the history of the famous ordinance of 1787, and traced the rise of the spirit of colonization from the officers of the revolution who set foot the movement to found a territory in the great west.

Judge Cox's speech was comprehensive, touching lightly on the settlement of Cincinnati and other points of Ohio, and was heartily applauded.

A Washout on the Lackawanna.

ELMIRA, N. Y., April 7.—At midnight last night a washout on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railway, about fifty five miles east of Buffalo, caused the engine of passenger train No. 12 to leave the track.
The cars did not follow the engine. No passengers were hurt, but Fireman Bogart was killed and Engineer Thomas badly hurt.
Both men belong to this city.

At Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania.

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., April 7.—A wind storm, amounting almost to a cyclone, passed over this place late last night. The new elegant residence of George Haines, not yet occupied, was blown down. Several roofs were torn off, one of the Hartman iron works was blown down and the English Lutheran church considerably damaged.

JAKE SHARP DEAD.

The Notorious Broadway Hoodlum Escapes
Sing Sing—Sketch of His Life.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Jake Sharp died at 9:20 last night, at his home, No. 35 West Twenty-third street. His family were all present.

Jacob Sharp began life in northern New York as a poor boy who had to work so hard that he got little time to study, and whatever spare time he did have was given up to experiments which he hoped would result in the invention of something that would be the foundation of a fortune, for he was ambitious, and he worked with a quiet, dogged persistence that was bound to succeed. People were divided in their opinion of him, some thinking him a fool, others believing him a genius.

When he was nineteen years old he married his present wife, who was then about fourteen years old, and they went to live in a little log cabin which he had built with his own hands. He made all the furniture and some of it was beautifully carved by the aid of a jack knife.

Their home was on the edge of the forest, which he cleared little by little, working for farmers at about $3 per month and having but little time to work at home. Still he managed to cultivate enough to give them a living in addition to his wages. Here the first child was born.

During the first five years of their married life no two worked harder than they, and it was not long before their industry and frugality began to tell.

About this time Mr. Sharp patented a horseshoe, which was the foundation of his future success, and this was followed by other inventions in rapid succession. In 1849 they left Rome and came to New York and prospered.

Their first child was born in a log cabin, their last in a house worth $50,000. Mr.
Sharp became interested in the horse cars, and since 1852 had been trying to get a franchise on Broadway.

It was in this attempt that he committed the great mistake of his life by bribing the New York board of aldermen to grant the franchise.

He was tried last year in New York for the offense, convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary for twenty years. He had, however, secured a new trial.

The Mississippi Republican Delegates.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The Times has a special from Jackson, Miss., saying that of the eighteen delegates from Mississippi to the National Republican convention, fifteen are for Sherman and three for Gresham.
Ex-Congressman Lynch heads the latter party. The Democratic convention to choose delegates to the St. Louis convention is called to meet there on May 23.

WIND AND RAIN.

Considerable Damage Reported from Var- ious Parts of the Country.

CHICAGO, April 7.—In Iowa yesterday a tornado tore through the suburbs of Sioux City, killing an old woman and injuring several children.

A tornado developed in Indiana last night unroofed many buildings and lifted a Marion freight train off the track at Slaters station.

A water spout burst over the Illinois Central railway at Remsen, washing the road bed for several yards and delaying trains for over six hours.

In Wisconsin the great railroad bridge at Sheboygan, has been thrown out of plumb by high water in the river; several factories along the river front are inundated, and throughout the state rivers are overflowing their banks and devastating the country for miles.

In Michigan there was a heavy fall of rain
and hail Wednesday night. The storm was very severe at Muskegon being accompanied
with thunder and lightning.

At Sioux City.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, April 7.—The residence

built better than they knew.

Theodore Roosevelt.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 7.—Telegrams from a dozen points in Dakota report heavy rains and raging rivers. The river is brimming at Washburn and still rising, and the bottom lands below are flooded for miles.

At Gladstone, Dak., the Hart river is rapidly rising. At South Hart, the railway bridge has given way and all trains are temporarily abandoned. At Mankato, Minn., leaving its station, the Minnesota is leaving its banks.

The ice is moving in immense cakes and a gorge is feared below the city. The river rose eight feet during the night, and seven yesterday and is still rising.

Three Lives Lost.

CENTREVILLE, Mich., April 7.—Remarkably severe thunder storm passed over this place yesterday afternoon, doing much damage to property and causing the loss of three lives.
James Parsons' barn, in Sherman township, was struck by lightning and totally destroyed. Mr. Parsons and his little child and a Miss Yankee, being instantly killed at the same time. The storm was probably the worst St. Joseph county has experienced in years.

Church Destroyed By Lightning.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 7.—During the storm Wednesday the Catholic church at Shieldsville, Minn., was struck by lightning and destroyed. It was a stone structure, built last season, and cost $25,000. John Healy of Shieldsville, while on his way home from Faribault, was struck by a portion of a roof from a building near the Canon Lake and fatally injured. Henry Streckley was killed at Medford.

A Washout on the Lackawanna.

HECHINGER & CO.

The past week clearly defined the situation of the Clothing trade in Maysville. The number of customers that at times crowded our house and patiently waited (we thank them for it) until it came their turn to be waited on, was something wonderful for so early in the season. Yet when you see OUR goods, OUR styles, OUR prices, and consider OUR reputation for fair dealing, it is not such a remarkable matter after all. We to-day show lines of specialties in Business and Dress Suits that cannot be found in any other Clothing House in the State. We have, in connection with our general line of goods, taken special pains to please the ladies with our Children's Wear. Our STAR WAISTS are just the thing for the little fellows. "Ain't they just elegant?" and "Well, they are beautiful!" are the expressions of mothers that see them. Next week will be HAT week in our house. Look out for the display of them in our windows. In our Custom department we are turning out work that speaks for itself. Respectfully,

The C. and O. Reorganization Plan Accepted.

A special from New York says: "The reorganization committee of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company gives notice that holders, representing a total of about seven-eights of the bonds of the company affected by the plan of reorganization, and four-fifths of the stock, have accepted the provisions of the reorganization agreement, and that securities may still be deposited with Messrs. Drexel, Morgan & Co., on payment of a penalty of 2 per cent. in cash on all classes of bonds, and one-half per cent. on all classes of stock, in addition to assessments on the latter provided for in the reorganization agreement, such privileges to be terminated by the committee, in its discretion, without further notice. A second installment of 25 per cent. of the assessment of stock deposited is called, payable in May."

Trouble at Tygart Creek.

Says the Greenup Gazette: "The construction train of the Maysville and Big Sandy Railroad went down to Tygart Creek and finished laying the track to within about twenty feet of the abutments, when the men were summarily checked by a contractor who has lived hermetically in a shanty guarding the abutments and stone piers against the R. R. Co.'s invasion, until he should be paid for his work, ever since it was completed. He came out and leveled a long rifle at the foremost one, told him in unmistakable terms that thus far they could come but no further. They took him at his word and changed the programme to hauling gravel."

"The iron bridge is at Ashland and will be put up as soon as Old-Man-not-Afraid-of-the-Cars lets them have an opportunity, but at present he holds the key to the situation."

"It is reported he has dynamite bombs secreted under the stone masonry with which he intends to blow it into the Ohio river if his money is not forthcoming."

The Only Remedy

FOR Contagious Blood Poison.

Mr. D. P. Adams, Union, South Carolina, writes: "I was afflicted with a terrible case of blood poison for about thirteen months. I was treated by the best physicians, and used various kinds of remedies, but received no satisfactory relief. I finally tried the Swift Specie, and about four bottles cured me sound and well."

Col. D. H. Kleser, editor and proprietor of the Opelika, Ala., Times, under date of June 12, 1887, writes: "I am a young man, though infirmiter, I contracted a disease which has stuck to me for years. Some five or six years since I was troubled with pain, as to make it difficult to walk. Being advertised in the S. S. in my paper for several years, I concluded I would try it to see if there was any efficacy in the medicine. I commenced taking it according to directions, half a dozen bottles. I was once at a way station mid, getting left. I walked the seven miles and have never felt any return of the old malady. After experiencing the great effects of the medicine, I took the route. I am sixty-eight years of age and I feel now like a young pup and can go to the case when necessary and set up from six to eight thousand ends without any inconvenience. I send you this without solicitation."

Mr. F. Wohl, 211 North Avenue, Chicago, under date of June 12, 1887, writes: "I deem it my duty to call your attention to the great success you have had with your extract medicine. I contracted a very severe case of blood poisoning about two years ago. Hearing of your medicine, I went to a drug store, the proprietors of which were not familiar with a preparation of bisac, which he said was a sure cure. I used six bottles of his stuff and grew worse all the time. At last I got disgusted and despaired of a cure. I met a druggist who had heard of your medicine and cured him. I went to the same druggist again and demanded your medicine. He reluctantly sold me twelve bottles, and I am now perfectly cured. I have used the medicine of assistance to prevent their being deceived by false representations. I thank you again for the benefit derived from your medicine."

Dr. J. C. Cheney, a prominent physician, residing in Elizaville, Schley County, Georgia, in a letter recounting the infallible success he has in curing contagious blood poison cases in his extensive practice writes: "I will now give the most miraculous, permanently dangerous effects of mercury; will welcome your discovery of S. S. as a boon to humanity. The medical profession, always in search of proprietary medicines, is growing slowly, and in some cases secretly, to the use of S. S. in cases of blood disorder. Of course a medicine that cures the blood of feverish disease must purify the body of skin and skin diseases called fever. The Swift Specie Co. Drawer 8, Atlanta, Ga.

A SUDDEN DEATH.

Mrs. Mary C. Hall, widow of the Late Jas. H. Hall, Sr., Passes Away After a Brief Illness.

Rheumatism of the Heart Attributed as the Cause—Brief Sketch of the Deceased.

Mrs. Mary C. Hall, widow of the late James H. Hall, Sr., died about 2 o'clock this morning at the family residence, corner of Forest avenue and Lexington street. She was known to be in the enjoyment of her usual health last evening, and her relatives and many friends were startled by the sad news of her sudden death. In the still hour of midnight, the Death Angel had come and gone, and had left the home in mourning.

About two weeks ago the deceased suffered a severe attack of rheumatism of the heart. It passed off, however, in the course of a few days, and she had been in the enjoyment of her usual health since. Yesterday afternoon she was out for a carriage drive with some of the family. After supper, she spent a short time at the home of her son, Mr. Samuel M. Hall, of Forest avenue. Returning home she retired in her usual health. About two o'clock this morning, she was seized with another attack of rheumatism of the heart. She managed to reach the bell and summon her son, Mr. Wm. F. Hall. On entering the room, he found her seated on her couch gasping for breath. She was still conscious, however, and told him she thought she was dying. A messenger was at once dispatched for Dr. Strode, the family physician. She breathed her last, however, in a few minutes after her son reached her, long before the summons for medical aid could be answered.

Mrs. Hall was a native of Virginia. She was born March 17, 1815, and was a daughter of John N. and Charlotte T. Brook. She was united in marriage to the late James H. Hall, Sr., March 28, 1840. Her husband preceded her to the grave two years and two months, lacking one day. She was the mother of seven children, six of whom survive her. These are: James H. Hall, Jr., John H. Hall, Samuel M. Hall, William F. Hall, and Mrs. Dr. J. T. Strode, all of this city, and Mrs. John A. Miller, of Atlanta, Ga.

The funeral will take place at the residence, but the date has not been announced. Rev. Russell Cecil will officiate.

THE SITUATION IN EUROPE

SNOWS AND FLOODS WILL DELAY
MILITARY MOVEMENTS.

John Morley's Criticism on the Local Government—Bismarck's Scheme—Meeting of French Anarchists—The Morocco Troubles—The Abyssinians—Foreign.

LONDON, April 7.—The European situation remains unchanged. Indeed, no immediate change is to be expected, for as yet central and eastern Europe is not rid of its snows and floods, and military operations will not be possible from railway centers for some weeks to come. Meanwhile all Europe is waiting and watching, wondering if the magazine of war will be touched off this spring or a little later.

It is well understood that Russia, if she means war, must kindle the spark either in Roumania or Bulgaria. Latest events seem to point to the latter where King Charles holds with difficulty pro-Russian sentiment in check, and where insurrections are threatened through Russian intrigues. The sentiment of the populace is anti-Russian, but there is a strong Russian leaning among the officers of the army. The exclusion by Hungary of Roumanian cattle tends to encourage a sentiment against a defensive alliance with Austria and plays into the hands of Russian agitators. If, as is supposed, that alliance is consummated, then any violation of Roumanian territory by Russia inaugurates war. That she must do in any operation against Bulgaria.

Although Turkey is anxious to avoid giving Russia a cause of quarrel, by reason of the unpaid war indemnity due the latter, and a threatened invasion of Armenia by Russia to collect it, yet the sultan is not likely to do anything further toward disorganizing Bulgaria. To do so would destroy Turkey's last hope of retaining a foothold in Europe, while she has a treaty assurance from England that the latter will maintain the integrity of Turkish possessions in Asia.

John Morley at New Castle.

LONDON, April 7.—Mr. John Morley at New Castle very sharply criticizes upon the local government bill and Mr. Goschen's budget. The former, he said, was simply an installation of the latter, and both schemes were full of glaring defects. He accused Mr. Goschen of throwing overboard his own maxims and principles, and said that instead of making the wonderful saving in the government's finances that he had boasted, he was merely diverting the imperial revenues from other uses to the support of local paupers. This was a grave innovation and a long stride towards a state of Socialism.

"How long," he asked, "will the occupier pay rates and the owner pay nothing? How long will the people suffer nine owners to receive royalties, and not give anything for the support of local burdens? How long shall landlords receive rent for land and pay nothing for the improvement of their property?"

Such questions as these, the speaker said, were suggested by the two schemes, which he condemned in the main. There were good points in both the local government bill and the budget, he declared, but England was approaching gradually but surely a change, and he feared that future conditions would militate strongly against the objectionable portion of the two measures.

Bismarck's Trick.

BERLIN, April 7.—The Cologne Gazette publishes the following: "Great excitement prevails in diplomatic circles in Berlin over the possibility of the speedy resignation of Prince Bismarck, because of the proposed marriage of Prince Alexander of Battenberg and Princess Victoria of Prussia. Prince Alexander wished to accompany Queen Victoria to Berlin as a suitor for the hand of the princess."

It is safe to assume that Bismarck has not asked to be relieved, but has resorted to a rumor that would voice his opposition to such a marriage engagement, while the eastern question remains unsettled. Five years ago the czar had Bulgaria in his grasp, when Alexander headed the National movement there and defeated his plans. The marital program, it is reported, has been postponed to avoid giving offense to the czar.

It is reported that if Prince Bismarck resigns Count Herbert Bismarck will also resign.

Paris Anarchists.

PARIS, April 7.—Five hundred Anarchists assembled Thursday at the labor bureau and made a violent protest against the registry offices. The speakers among the Anarchists reproached French workmen for "grovelling before" a general who had been deprived of his plumes.

As the speakers followed, one after another in addressing the crowd, they became excited and declared that they must cut the throats of the proprietors of the registry offices in the same manner that their fathers cut the throat of the king. The crowd now became wild and turbulent and a riot was imminent, but the police appeared on the scene and dispersed the throng.

Our Consulate Insulted.

TANGIER, April 7.—There is great excitement here. The commission of Muley Hassan has absolutely refused to accede to the demands of Consul Lewis. The Moors make insulting demonstrations about the American consulate. Our navy is not large nor formidable, but we might be able to throw pellets enough at his little muleyship, the sultan of Morocco, to frighten him. We may be forced to severe measures.

Want of Interference.

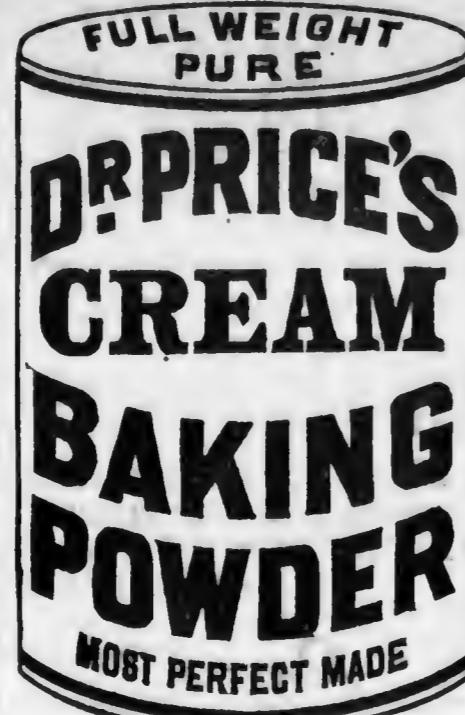

LONDON, April 7.—A dispatch to the Independence Belge from Madrid says: The United States government refuses to accept the proposed mediation of Germany in the dispute with Morocco, and demands suitable indemnities and apologies. It is feared that the United States steamer Enterprise will bombard Tangier.

King John's Army.

ROME, April 7.—A dispatch has been received from Gen. San Marzano, at Massowah, stating that Ghinda and the whole surrounding plateau has been evacuated by the Abyssinian army, and that an Arab scout states that the forces of King John have returned to their original camp. It is also reported that Ras Alula is in disgrace and is removed from command.

Probabilities for M. Floquet.

PARIS, April 7.—The vote by which the French chamber of deputies decided to take a recess until the 19th of April indicates in a measure what Premier Floquet's chances are for long duration in power. The government tried hard to have the chamber adjourn until May 6, but were defeated by ninety-one votes.
